

LE FIGARO VIN - Bernard Burtschy - Juin 2010

90-92/100

Robe sombre. Nez intense, fruits noirs. En bouche, attaque suave, belle matière, épice, plein, long, un rien sec en finale.

JAMESSUCKLING.COM - James Suckling - Février 2012

93/100

A wine with full-body, chewy tannins and a chocolate, berry and vanilla aftertaste. Juicy and pretty. Layered. Bright and focused. Try in 2018.

LE GUIDE HACHETTE DES VINS 2013 - Septembre 2012

*

Le Château La Commanderie, sur la fraîcheur, obtient une étoile.

GAULT & MILLAU - Mai 2011

16,5/20

Belle allonge, entre rigueur et fraîcheur, sur de savoureuses notes de pralin et d'épices.

JANCISROBINSON.COM - Jancis Robinson - Avril 2010

16,5/20

Very deep crimson. Plump nose. Really does smell like plump, ripe, blackberries. There's still a bit of carbon dioxide in this wine – making it seem fresher? Fine tannins on the finish. Pastry cream flavours. Should get there in the end.

FALSTAFF - Peter Moser - Avril 2010

90-92/100

Reife Zwetschenfrucht. Orangenesten, etwas Nougat, noch etwas zurückhaltend. Saftig und rund, schokoladige Textur, gut integrierte Tannine, harmonisch, Nougatfinish.

JEANMARCQUARIN.COM - Jean-Marc Quarin - Janvier 2014

14/20

Couleur sombre, de bonne intensité et vive. Nez discret et crémeux. La bouche est assez extraite, tannique. Longueur moyenne.

MARK SQUIRES' BULLETIN BOARD - Kevin Shin - Avril 2010

94-96/100

Hedonistic, soft subtle dark fruit, jammy and chewy yet maintaining nice balance.

THE WINE ADVOCATE - Robert Parker - Avril 2010

87-89/100

A stylish effort, the 2009 La Commanderie exhibits plenty of blue and red fruits interwoven with notions of damp earth and forest floor. The wine possesses excellent density, rich, medium to full-bodied flavors, good glycerin and depth, sweet tannins, and excellent potential. It could turn out to be one of the top La Commanderies ever made. Drink it over the next 10-15 years

WINE SPECTATOR - James Suckling - Mars 2010

88-91/100

Dried flowers, with blueberry and blackberry on the nose and palate. Full-bodied, with chewy tannins and a slightly mouth-drying feel. A little overextracted. But stylish.

TAST - Bettane & Desseauve - Avril 2010

16/20

Très charnu, dense et intense, assurément riche et chaleureux, mais doté d'une certaine finesse.

THE AMATEUR WINO - Alan Chan - Mars 2010

92/100

Fuller rounder sample than the Fleur de Bouard tasted just before this, showing much more power; tannic but smooth and round, with sweet fruits and some herbal varietal character that is welcome. Oak showing; this is quite nice, in a modern style. Nice bit of perfume as well.

LE NOUVEL OBSERVATEUR - Antoine Gerbelle - Septembre 2012

14,5/20

Un style appuyé sur la maturité des saveurs et les notes confites typiques de la vendange 2009.

PERIODIC REVIEW OF WINE - Alan Duran - Avril 2010

90-92/100

The silky-textured 2009 is outstanding in quality. It offers an opaque purple hue followed by scorched earth, plum, mulberry, and a tinge of blue flower. The classic-mineral style, medium to full-body, and excellent purity all lead to a wine of substantive wet-stone and plum/mulberry infused flavor. This vibrant wine reveals not one element out of space. Maturity period 2013-2023.

LA RVF - Juin 2010

Réussites

Très beau fruit frais, boisé délicat en finale et agréable fluidité des tanins pour ce vin plaisant.

THE WINE CELLAR INSIDER - Jeff Leve - Mars 2012

89/100

Earth, spice and cherries make up the perfume. Soft tannins and round textures are found in the sweet, black cherry and cocoa finish of this crowd pleasing, style of wine that will show best in its youth. This is showing much better than it did when it was tasted in barrel.
